AMERICAN

A NUCOR COMPANY

Successful medical and dental facilities today must meet many criteria. They include attractive appearance that conveys the appropriate image of your practice. Flexibility - both for ease of future expansions, and to meet changing interior layout needs for new equipment and growing staffs. Economical initial construction costs, minimum maintenance requirements and energy efficiency also are vital considerations.

Today's best way to meet all of these demands is with a metal building system from American Buildings Company (ABC). ABC's buildings are custom designed using the industry's most advanced computer capabilities. You get complete freedom of design, including the ability to combine metal systems components with traditional materials such as wood, masonry, stone or glass to achieve just the look and functionality you want.

You can choose Silicone-Polyester COOL™ panels or panels coated with SmartKote® PVDF. Both feature durable finishes that resist fading, extend the life of the structure and lower your energy costs.

ABC's SP-COOL™ panels, offered in 4 great colors, feature a 25-year finish warranty. SmartKote® finishes, available in a wide range of colors, can be warranted for an optional 35 years. ABC's metal standing seam roofs are offered with 20-year weathertightness replacement warranties that include both labor and materials.

As part of Nucor Corporation, the largest steel company in the United States, American Buildings Company is one of the most vertically integrated manufacturers. We deliver our systems to the jobsite with our own transportation fleet.

We're represented locally throughout North America by a network of Authorized Builders and Roofers—each of them an experienced professional who can take full single-source responsibility for the success of every project.
